We have a number of hours up here, now that we can finally see the sun every day. And just as the spring season ends, the summer season comes rolling around at the end of May. This means some hot days, and lots of outdoor activities. It's a great time of year for many of us. But let's face it, it can also be a very bad time of year for dog owners. Dogs are much happier when they can be outside on a nice day. And sometimes that isn't realistic. So how can you solve this issue. I have some great tips for you here. So check them out. This is a quick tip for those of you who like to make a difference when you can. Check out the website I found, called Share Your Coffee. The site is pretty simple. You take a picture of yourself doing something simple like catching a ball in the park, or a smile, or giving a high five. People send pictures in to them, and they email them to you. You can then choose one of the photos to replace the picture of you in your wallet or email account. You do have the option to do the same thing for friends and family too. So why should you look into doing this? They have a few different reasons: 1.) You look like a total idiot. Usually they don't take a lot of time for a portrait, and many people send in a good picture or two of them, and it comes out to look like you went to a fancy portrait artist! 2.) You are supposed to have fun doing the gesture. What's the point in taking a picture of yourself holding a cup of coffee and taking a long drag on a cigarette, or some other stupid thing. But don't worry. If you are an artist, there is a free version of this software that you can use. Afterwards, once you've tried it out for awhile you can purchase the software for just a couple of bucks a month, so there's no harm in trying it out! It is a direct sequel to 2005's Battlefield 2, and the eleventh installment in the Battlefield franchise. The game was released in North America on 25th.
