A: Windows 7 has an option in Control Panel in Programs and Features to hide the ribbon and menus. It is available by going to Personalization -> Customize in the Control Panel. A: The menu options simply aren't there anymore. If you want to use them, there's a program for that. I use this quite a bit and it works fine. It's the same old menus you would find on your original

Office, only the buttons are smaller and things don't fit inside as well. But if you are easily confused, this might be a good place to start. ;
