Everything you need in an Android file manager. AirDroid Personal Copyright: AirDroid Personal is a file manager for Android. AirDroid Personal Link: Download AirDroid Personal and start enjoying reliable transfers to your Android devices. Updated from 11:23 a.m. EST (DATE): Mike Tanier at Bleacher Report has a good article about the initial round of cuts. The Jets have their 30 players that are guaranteed a contract. That leaves them with around 90 players left. Updated from 10:56 a.m. EST (DATE): According to our own Luke Takano, the two teams that were left in the free agent market, the Jets and the Jaguars, have both agreed on the terms of their deals and are expected to work out the details to sign them. The Jets still have issues with a handful of players on the reserve/futures list, which leaves them with 30 players guaranteed a contract. The Jets still need to add 10 players to their roster, including five on the 53-man roster. It remains to be seen if a couple of these smaller deals are going to happen quickly, if at all. Stay tuned, but do not be surprised if the Jets and the Jaguars get it done. Luke Takano has been monitoring all of the free agency activity and our reporters are following him closely.

The consensus is that the Jaguars have the better of the free agent market. The Jaguars have five linemen in free agency, which is the second most for the team behind the roster of the 2015 season. That leaves the Jaguars to go with their remaining draft picks to find their depth. At this time, the biggest free agent signing for the Jaguars appears to be the signing of Tennessee Titans quarterback Michael Vrebel to be their assistant head coach. The Jets have picked up exclusive rights to the following free agents, with the exception of tight end Geoff Swaim, who was recently re-signed by the team. Curtis Lofton, S, Ravens -- 10/13/18 Trent Brown, OT, Rams -- 10/14/18 Jarvis Landry, WR, Dolphins -- 10/14/18 Jason Witten, TE, Falcons -- 10/14/18 Trevor Siemian, QB, Broncos -- 10/14/18 Corey
