Bizvoice Mobile for GSM smartphones and Android Bizvoice Mobile for GSM smartphones (Bizvoice for Android) is a 3D GIS package which includes a fully functional base station, beacon and smartphone repeater. The idea of the app is to allow integration between base stations and smartphone apps in order to automate the process of data acquisition. For example, you can receive the weather forecast from your base station (supplied by the app) and then tell the base station about your current location. The base station will then send the phone to that location where you can take action on the information (such as displaying the forecast). Bizvoice for Android includes an option to download the base station off Google Play. To get started, launch the app, insert the downloaded base station and enter the required credentials. You can also create your own base stations and then share them with your friends. The app is free and has an
